

EOS EARLY CAREER WOMEN IN PHOTONICS AWARD 2021

European Optical Society

Coherence for Europe®

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS

18 May 2021

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS IS NOW OPEN !

APPLY NOW: <https://bit.ly/3qFuKaq>

Criteria

Any woman, EOS member, active in the field of photonics, with not more than 10 years after obtaining her PhD, may apply for the award. The award consists of a diploma and an honorarium of €2500.

How to apply

Candidates should send the completed application form along with a list of supporting documents. Send the supporting documents combined into ONE file (pdf preferred), by the end of submission deadline, to: <https://bit.ly/3plc0r2>

Please see below the list of supporting documents

1. One letter of support,
2. A biography/ CV (max 2 pages),
3. A list of publications,
4. A description of the contribution (max 1 page of A4, 12-point text), making clear the contribution to photonics.

Background to the Award

EOS Early Career Women in Photonics Award launched in 2015 to honor a young female scientist who has made outstanding photonics contributions. In continuity In 2021, EOS is going to again present the award, at the Award Ceremony of CLEO/Europe-EQEC 2021, held within the World of Photonics Congress during 20 – 24 June 2021, in Munich, Germany.

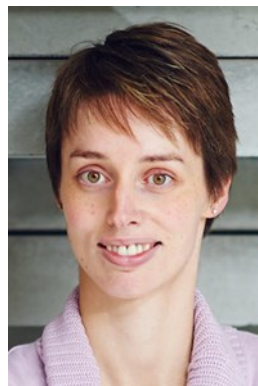

The 2021 EOS Early Career Women in Photonics Award will be presented in association with CLEO/Europe-EQEC 2021.

Joint Winner in 2015

Prof. Laura Na Liu

Prof. Nathalie Vermeulen

Winner in 2016

Prof. Camille-Sophie Bres

For more information, please contact : Elina Koistinen, EOS Executive Director, elina@europeanoptics.org, / Maite Flores ,the Award Committee Chair, secretary@europeanoptics.org.

